

The Open Doors Transition Center helps people move from nursing homes to the community. The program also helps people living in intermediate care facilities move to the community.

Transition Specialists can work with you, your family and the OPWDD team. They help you plan for what you need to live in the community. Transition Specialists are familiar with the services, support systems and technology available in the community. They help you connect to the services you need to live in the community.

The Open Doors Peer Program can match you with a caring Peer. Peers live in the community with OPWDD services and supports. They have made the move to the community themselves. They know it can be hard to move from a nursing home or intermediate care facility. The Peer Advocate will meet with you and support you through the move. They can help you get settled in your new home. Family members of Peers can meet with your family to discuss their concerns about your move to the community.
